Karim Ahmad Khan QC is the Head of the Investigative Team for ISIL (Da'esh) in Iraq, appointed by the UN Secretary General. He has extensive experience in acting as prosecutor, victim's counsel and defence lawyer in domestic and international criminal tribunals, including the ICC, ICTR, ICTY, ECCC, STL and SCSL.

Alain Werner is the Director of Civitas Maxima, one of the leading organizations in the prosecution of grave crimes based on extraterritorial jurisdiction. He was part of the prosecution team in the Charles Taylor trial, and has also represented victims in the Hissène Habré case and the first Khmer Rouge trial.

Carmen Cheung is the Legal Director of the Center for Justice and Accountability, which litigates before national courts and international mechanisms to hold perpetrators of serious crimes accountable. She is an expert on security and human rights, and leads CJA's litigation involving torture, extrajudicial killing, genocide and other mass atrocities.
